A sad but clarifying day. Backlands Festival takes place as planned.

Backlands Festival has, like many other festivals, looked forward to a final announcement from the government regarding major events under Covid-19. The official guidelines that came out today means that Backlands can now safely complete their festival in Odsherred in September.

"Of course we are extremely sad about the situation. The festival industry and the entire entertainment industry are in shock today. Cancellation after cancellation has hit the headlines and many people are affected by today's announcement. However, the announced guidelines have also been clarifying, and given us a sense of security and certainty that we can and must carry out the Backlands Festival in September in Odsherred. It gives us peace of mind to make an even better Festival," says Dean Strange from Backlands Festival.

Brief info: Backlands Festival is a new festival that is arranged for the first time in Odsherred on September 10, 11 and 12. Three enthusiasts are behind the festival, which will combine outdoor life, live music and community.
